Porter is waiting to help you now!!

As most of the metalworking industry realizes Porter Precision is and has been a solid performer for many years. Currently when the world is in disarray because of a terrible virus, Porter is still standing as a critical supplier at the “ready” to help their customers .

Since Walter Porter started his business in 1947 the Porter goal has always been to provide top quality items for the metal-working industry and to do it quickly and correctly.

Porter today has three facilities that are stocked with products, equipment, and capable personnel who will respond to all calls that their customers voice to them. The Cincinnati plant is the headquarters of Porter and can provide standard and special print items made to order quickly and efficiently.

However, to provide customers everywhere with their best response time, Porter has a plant in Georgia as well as Canada. These plants offer catalog and special items with their up-to-date equipment and skilled personnel. The ordered items can be shipped to the end user faster with shorter lead times.
